

Disclaimer

This website contains information obtained from within the New Zealand Ministry for Pacific Peoples and from sources commissioned by the Ministry and is subject to change without notice.

The Ministry endeavours to the best of its ability and knowledge to ensure that the information on this website is accurate and current. However, we cannot accept any liability for the accuracy or content of material on this website.

Visitors to this website should take specific advice from qualified, professional people before undertaking any action as a result of information accessed on this website.

The information provided on this website does not replace or alter the laws of New Zealand and other official guidelines or requirements.

Links to third party websites

The Ministry for Pacific Peoples does not accept any liability for the accuracy or content of information on this website that belongs to third parties; nor for the accuracy or content of any third-party website that you may access via a hyperlink from this site.

Links to other websites should not be taken as endorsement of those sites or products offered on those sites. This includes websites that may host Ministry content (e.g., video files on YouTube). The Ministry does not endorse advertising, related material, or other content you may view on such sites while accessing Ministry content.

When visiting other websites, please refer to the conditions of use and copyright policies of those sites.

Links from other sites to this one

You are welcome to create a hyperlink from another website to this one. However, the link must not be presented on your website in any context that implies that this website has an association with your site, or endorses your site or product. The Ministry for Pacific Peoples or the Pacific Aotearoa logo may not be used on your site without the Ministry's permission.